IN THE YEAR TWO THOUSAND EIGHTEEN AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ORDINANCE REGULATING THE MAINTENANCE OF ABANDONED, FORECLOSED RESIDENTIAL AND COMMERCIAL PROPERTIES

WHEREAS, Recent events in the housing market have led to a drastic rise in the number of foreclosed houses. In cities all over the nation, homes are being left empty as families are forced to move out. These homes are frequently retaken by banks, financial institutions, and large real estate conglomerates that have little to no connection with the municipality in which they own property; and,

WHEREAS, Many of these houses are essentially abandoned. Homes sit empty for months or years at a time, often creating an attractive public nuisance. Some homes are in violation of multiple aspects of state and local building codes and sanitary codes. The owner of record is often a large financial institution located out of state, making enforcement of the code very difficult; and,

WHEREAS, this problem exists from California to Ohio to Massachusetts. Banks and other financial institutions are refusing to maintain properties, and municipal building inspectors have turned into investigators as they try to find out who the owners are and how to contact them to correct code violations; and,

WHEREAS, Many other cities around the nation are facing similar problems and searching for solutions in order to keep up the quality of life for the Residents. Escondido, CA gave its code enforcement department an extra one million dollars to ensure compliance. Chula Vista, CA has passed an ordinance requiring all financial institutions that foreclose on a property to register, to pay an administrative fee of $70 and to appoint a local property maintenance company to maintain the property once a week. Although only in effect since early October, the program looks promising as it has over thirty voluntarily registered properties and is in the process of collecting over $18,000 in fees. Many other municipalities are considering similar laws or regulations to address this issue; and,

WHEREAS, These code violations include, among multiple other violations, unoccupied buildings susceptible to vandalism and/or open structures rendering them unsafe and dangerous, yards full of litter and trash, unlocked houses, unswept snow that renders sidewalks impassable, overgrown grass and bushes, and unsecured swimming pools that are not only a threat to children but become breeding grounds for infectious insects such as mosquitoes; NOW,
